DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed with an amendment on 3 December 2004 have been fully considered but they are moot in view of the following new basis of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1- 41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being obvious over Goldhaber et al. (US005794210A) in view of Rakavy et al. (US005913040A).
4. Goldhaber et al. teaches (independent claims 1 and 25) a rewarding method and a server, the method comprising: (a) designating a predetermined object (Cybercoins 62, col. 16 line 61 and Fig. 11) to each of a plurality of advertising web pages (col. 7 lines 27-29 and 48-50 and col. 8 lines 50-51) having respective URLs; (b) causing a server 106 (col. 16 lines 42-46) to detect that a user of a user terminal unit (consumer computer 104) has selected the object on one of a plurality of the advertising web pages; causing a transfer of cash or credit to the user's account (col. 7 lines 51-54; col. 16 lines 46-52; col. 16 line 65 to col. 17 line 3; and col. 17 lines 33-36 and 44-53), which reads (c) on recording an event log correlating an identifier of the user, an identifier of the selected object, and an event that the object has been selected, (d) determining whether or not the number of objects recorded in the event log exceeds a first predetermined value equal to one, and (e) rewarding the user when the determined result at step (d) is "yes".
5. Goldhaber et al. does not teach recording date of selection. Rakavy et al. teaches recording the time and duration of ad display (col. 12 lines 61-65), which reads on recording date of selection (because time is continuous). Because Rakavy et al. teaches that the value of an ad can be time dependent (col. 7 lines 51-53 and col. 13 lines 2-3), it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention, to add the teachings of Rakavy et al. to those of Goldhaber et al.

6. Neither reference teaches determining if the recording was within a predetermined time period. However, because Rakavy et al. teaches that the value of an ad is time dependent, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention, to add to the teachings of Rakavy et al. and Goldhaber et al. that it be determined if the recording was within a critical predetermined time period.
7. Goldhaber et al. also teaches at the citations given above claims 2, 3, 5, 6, 8-10, 12-18, 22-24, 26, 27, 29, 30, 32-37 and 41. Goldhaber et al. also teaches claims 19 and 38 (col. 9 lines 62-63).
8. Goldhaber et al. does not teach (claims 4, 11 and 28) a banner ad and rewarding by discounting an Internet connection fee. Official notice is taken (MPEP § 2144.03) that banner ads and rewarding by discounting an Internet connection fee were well known at the time of the instant invention. Because it is efficient to use common practices, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention, to add these features to the teachings of Goldhaber et al.
9. Traverse of the taking of Official Notice - On p. 11 of the arguments, applicant has traversed the examiner's taking of official notice (in para. 8 above). However, applicant has not provided adequate information or argument so that on its face it creates a reasonable doubt regarding the circumstances justifying the official notice (MPEP § 2144.03). Therefore, the presentation of a reference to substantiate the official notice is not deemed necessary. The examiner's taking of official notice is maintained. Since applicant failed to successfully traverse the examiner's assertion, it is taken to be admitted prior art (MPEP 2144.03.C).
10. Goldhaber et al. does not teach (claims 7, 20-21 and 39-40) storing the user ID and the event log on the user terminal unit. Because this could minimize response time and server storage requirements, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention, to add storing the user ID and the event log on the user terminal unit to the teachings of Goldhaber et al.

Suggestion of Allowable Subject Matter

11. The arguments (p. 12) discuss keyword selection. The addition of this limitation would overcome the instant rejection.
12. Applicant is cautioned that an allowance could not be considered until this or any other amendment were searched.

Conclusion

13. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).
14. A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

18. AFTER FINAL PRACTICE – Consistent with MPEP § 706.07(f) and 713.09, prosecution generally ends with the final rejection. Examiner will grant an interview after final only when applicant presents compelling evidence that “disposal or clarification for appeal may be accomplished with only nominal further consideration” (MPEP § 713.09). The burden is on applicant to demonstrate this requirement, preferably in no more than 25 words. Amendments are entered after final only when the amendments will clearly simplify issues, or put the case into condition for allowance, clearly and without additional search or more than nominal consideration.
19. Applicant may have after final arguments considered and amendments entered by filing an RCE.
20. ABANDONMENT – If examiner cannot by telephone verify applicant's intent to continue prosecution, the application is subject to abandonment six months after mailing of the last Office action.
